Drilling for Non-Drillers Course

Tuesday 23rd February 2016 - Johannesburg

Who should attend?

Administrative staff, sales team members, accounting staff, procurement officers, buyers as well as any support staff who work closely with or require an understanding of the drilling industry.

What it's about

The terminology and conditions on drill sites can sometimes be confusing for staff who do not have a drilling background. Therefore this course is aimed at equipping non-operational staff with the necessary knowledge to allow them to effectively support your company's operational team.
