ABOUT THE COURSE

Join the GSSA for an engaging session on the essential critical skills rarely taught in university but vital for thriving in today's geoscience industry. Hear from multiple industry speakers as they unpack the people-centered, professional, and workplace capabilities that elevate early-career geoscientists, including communication, teamwork, leadership, adaptability, problem-solving, and more.

Perfect for students, recent graduates, and professionals with under five years' experience looking to strengthen the skills that truly set you apart.
