WANTED

ENTREPRENEUR/MARKETEER WITH EARTH SCIENCE INTERESTS

QUIK_LOG GEOPHYSICS (PTY) LTD

A Borehole Geophysical Logging Consultancy and Contractor

Quik-Log Geophysics is looking to engage an emerging business manager from the private sector having an earth science background and a demonstrable marketing flair, with a view to taking over the MD position from the departing incumbent and majority shareholder. The latter is stepping down to refocus his efforts elsewhere. His replacement should have some 10 years business and/or technical experience in the earth-science or mining related sectors and an extensive network in one of these sectors. The company is a small borehole geophysical/wireline logging contractor with offices in Midrand and Johannesburg, which services the mineral exploration, geotechnical and hydrogeological sectors in Southern and Central Africa.

Quik_Log is well established in the industry, owns multi-million field operating assets encompassing several dedicated logging trucks with a wide spectrum of logging tools, and has an encouraging 2021 order book. Additional marketing flair and a "new generation " approach are now required after lockdown etc to restore and grow revenue and profit levels. The present Operations Director is an expert in his field, and the departing MD will be available for geophysical/geological backup at Expert level..

Initial starting salary will be modest but with the inducement, given a successful performance, that a significant portion of the company's shareholding will be placed via vendor funding with the new MD on a progressive basis

Interested applicants should contact MD Geoff Campbell for further information:
